Ora contemporary, the China Mail, in its issue of Wednesday takes exception to the comments which we made with reference to the rendition of the Chinese who were in Gicted for piracy at the last Criminal Sessions, and, upon the basis of some remarks made by Mr. Justice Mellish, in the course of the appeal on the celebrated Kwok-A-shing case. maintains that the action of the junk could not be considered anything but municipal. Theatre at 6 p.m. on the let inst. and gettingpiracy within the jurisdiction of the Chinese into a chair, Government. We do not dony that our contemporary makes what appears to be a mir case in favour of the rendition, although we are disposed to think that, had the case been completely heard in Court, it might have appeared that the argument in question would not apply. The words used by Mr. Justice MELLISH are as follows :- "Chinese subjects starting from and returning to Chinese territory, who attack a ship of some other mation whether in harbour or at sea, they making as it-were that territory the base of operations, must be held to munit an offere against the municipal law of China, and against the Chinese Government, whether they commit an act of piracy jure gentlum or It is obvious that Justice Merrisi's reason for holding the class of piracy to which he refers to be within the jurisdiction of the Chinese is, as slated that the pirates made the territory of China the base of their operations. One element for determining the nature of a minacy, that is whether it is to be deemed piracyjure gentium or municipal piracy, would thus appear to be, according to the judgment quoted, the place which is made the basis of operations—and it was a question of fact to be estimated by the jury whether the basis of operations in this case was the coast of China, or whether the depredators might not have been prepared to rob vessels generally upon the high seas or elsewhere. In the the lane by closing gutes at each and was latter case it would seem to be a fair conclusion that the converse of Mr. Justice Mellish's

Complainant said that the defendant was for merly an inunte of the Beformatory, and unt two months ago, acted as his servent, when he was discharged, but being out of employment was permitted to come to his bouse to take food Mr. C. D. Moss, Japan Gazelle On Saturday last he had in his desk $100 i three different compartments, the middle one containing $68. On Tuesday he missed the litter sum of money, but did not say anything. that night. The next morning he learned that the defendant was at the louse on Sunday, and he suspected him as he knew where he kept money. He went out in march of him and also made a report. The defendant was apprehended on Wednesday, and he admitted in the Charge Room that he took the money, that he bought watch and a gold ring with part of it, and the rest he had in a box. These were all found.

Defendant seked no questions. The Revd Father Vigno asked to have the defendant leniently dealt with as this was The evidence being taken, his Worship told the defendant that he was an ungrateful man

He had been brought sup to Christianily and treated kindly, and this was the way be shewed his gratitude after having confidence placed in for mercy to be extended, it would be. Saturday the Duo de Broglie was defeated majority of 64. There seems to be little don't that, though the attack on the Government proceeded from the Extreme Right, the tactics of the Opposition were really directed by Thiera. In reply to M. Bathie's request, Thery, a strong Legitimist, moved as an ame nent, that the Electoral Bill should not taken into consideration till after the Municipal Reform Bill. As the discussion of this Latter measure will probably occupy some month the object of this motion was to defer the Due de Broglie dechred that the Government could not accept the amendment of M. Thery. and intimated that the division would be garded as a Cabinet question. The Republican leaders wisely abstained from any part in the debate; and the discussion, which was not of any great length, was apparently confined to porters. Finally, when the division was called the Left voted in a body, some 330 strong, favour of the amendment, while thirty ultra Royalists and twenty Imperialists, threw their votes with the Left. In consequence the amendinant was chried in a very full House a majority of 381 to 317. After the declaration

Extremes have indeed met on this occasion. The clue to the difficulty was the dislike of the Right to the Ducde Mixed Court, when cases were tried at the Eng. SHIP FOUNDERED IN A GALE-ALL ON BOARD lease of office, and declined to resign as they say he promised todo when a majority could be btained in favor of a restoration, apat their spite and overthrew the only government which MacMahon could possibly govern with. If that be so, the Right must well know that Mac Malon will not dissolve the Assembly, which under the ircumstances must falinto chaos—a condition always precedent to a coup d'état. The probability, however, is that a dissolution must occur, and that MacMakon will go in for a Conservative Republic. which was precisely M. Thiers' iim when he was turned out of office a year ago. The issue on which the Ministers bave been defented is one of Parliamentary procedure, though indirectly it involves an important principle. When the Presidency was prolonged for seven years in November last, the Constitutional conditions under which the Septennite was to be definitely established were left for inture decision : and the Ministry stood pledged to bring in Bills at some unfixed date with the object of conferring a more permanent chameter on the Provisional regime of the Marshal. This unsatisfactory definition is the best! can be given of the Constitutional legislation which the Duo de Broglie and the Ministry had bound themselves to introduce. The step towards oreating a Constitution is to settle what is to be the character of the supreme authority in the State. But the object the late Ministers had in view was to devise a series of institutions which would be equally adaptable to a Monarchy or a Republid. The attempt was one destined to failure from its intringic impracticability; even if it had not been surrounded with incidental. oulties of the most formidable kind. The natural instinct of self-preservation must doubtless have impelled the Ministry to let well the obgracter of the Septemate. Unfortunately, the necessities of his position compelled the course of the recent elections that if in a few days. the suffrage was left unaltered, the Assembly would be composed of a Republican majority and a Monarchical minority before the date when the Marshal's authority would expire. If the Republicani commanded a majority in the Chambers at the termination of the Septennate, the Republic would infallibly be proolaimed as the definitive Government of the which the Due de Broglie and been called to office in order to wert, it was necessary for him to introduce a Bill modifying the sufrage in a the further obligation of providing France with defeat of the Ministry

Edward Jenkins, Sir Bartle Frere, Counts. Viscounts, and members of the Bur and gentlemen, including many distinguished Par-Duke Frederick, in his opening speech, expressed much sympathy with the cause of the cause in the cause and the cause of t pressed negroes. In the course of his remarks; champion of the negro. Sir B. Frere offered a resolution stigmatizing the Eastern Coast traffic as ruinous to Africa and hunful to general commerce, degrading to humanity and opposed to Christianity, and that its suppression should be the object of all nations. He then, in detail, reviewed the operations going on in Africa for uprooting this nefirious traffic, in which work the different powers had assisted. trian Ambassador, who seconded the resolution signed. and sesared the meeting of Austria's sympathy and assistance in the undertaking. Chevalier Cordova, the Italian Ambasendor. also supported the resolution, speaking in Italian. He delivered a thrilling address on liberty.

making the abolition of the slave traffic the first question. The resolution was passed, and another expressing the hope that the policy will be proseduted to a successful issue, was also adopted. THOSE STOLEN DIAMONDS-INSANE.

ENGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY, WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION. n Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Laily Press Office, Hongkong.

POR comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous obiccts in machinery photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid sdvance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are bers given in extenso: Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exerciscs for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accents being carafully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond that he bus shops established at those places in in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast the name of Hing Kar.
